Chamber News

The Legislative Action Team (LAT) has been a very active committee at the Chamber during the first half of 2015. As we went into the 2015 Legislative session, the Chamber adopted the Oregon State Chamber of Commerce’s legislative agenda, which included 5 items to promote, like transportation investment and expansion of small business tax cuts, and 5 issues to oppose, including various workplace mandates and government run retirement plans for the private sector.

The LAT developed a strong relationship with our legislators through the OSCC Chamber Day at the capitol, twice monthly teleconferences with them from SWOCC, and direct contact with their offices. This effort was coordinated by chair Tom Burdett and the LAT through a

Presidents Letter-Chamber Connection

Welcome Chamber members,
The Importance of Member-ship

The Chamber's focus for 2015 has been how to grow our Chamber? The Chamber committees are as active as they can be, all ten of them, can you name them all?

The committees are the backbone of the Chamber; they bring something to every member. One of the fastest growing committees today is the Education Committee. Why? I think everyone wants the best education for the children in our community, a place they can learn life's lessons. Teaching isn't as simple as it used to be. Times have changed in many ways. Discipline isn't done with a paddle with holes drilled into it any more like it was when I went to school.

The Chamber's Legislative Action Team is actively engaged, being the voice for small businesses. Staying connected with local legislators, moving forward & taking stands on issues, and mobilizing people to come to meetings and town hall events to demonstrate local support.

The Chamber's Leadership Coos program is fabulous, a great place to introduced yourself into the community. You get to see everything the community has to offer and more. You can become a part of this program too.

These are a few of the reasons why we belong to the Chamber and only a few reasons why you need to be a Chamber member too. The Chamber only survives because of its members. Membership makes up a very large percent of its operating cost, other Chamber events (Leadership Coos, Economic Outlook Forum, and Annual Banquet) bring in some small amounts of revenue but they also have very large expenses.

So would you like to take on a challenge, a "New Membership Challenge"? We are asking that all Chamber Members help spread the word and let others know why you area a Chamber Member and help us get new members to Join! The Member who recruits the most new members will win a Travel Oregon Package sponsored by Oregon Pacific Bank! The package includes mini coastal getaway adventures. The winner will be announced at the 2016 Chamber Awards Banquet. This "Mission is Possible"

How long have you lived in Oregon's Bay Area:

I have lived in Oregon for a year and half.

Why would you like to serve on the Board:

The Chamber of Commerce is about serving our community. Serving others is part of my character. As a servant leader I look for ways to help others through my time and talents.

What Committee do you serve on: I Currently I serve on the Membership committee, organizing the annual Golf Tournament.

What other community service/organizations are you involved with: I currently serve on the District Committee for the Boy Scouts of America, a recent graduate of Leadership Coos, and I am also a member of the Bay Area Kiwanis Club.

Todd Landsberg

South Coast Hearing Center

Dr. Todd Landsberg was born in Ohio and grew up in Kansas. He then lived in several areas of the country before settling down in Coos Bay in 2010.

After a brief stint as the Audiologist for the school system he decided to open up his own practice, South Coast Hearing Center, in 2013. Located in the new medical facility on Thompson Road, he helps individuals of all ages with hearing issues.

"Dr. Todd," as he is known to his many patients and friends, also has a 42-foot medical laboratory vehicle that enables him to see patients as far away as Portland, Gold Beach and Brookings. He does infant hearing screenings all the way up to treating our military veterans.

Dr. Todd is an avid runner and has run competitively since high school and at Baylor University, where he was a member of the Bears' cross country team. He went to graduate school at the University of Central Missouri and then received his Doctorate from the University of Florida.

Dr. Todd has a unique perspective on hearing issues since he has worn hearing aids since age 6. In fact, he was so active in hearing and community issues in high school that he was asked to carry the Olympic Torch for the Atlanta Olympics in 1996.

He continues his community activism here in Coos Bay and is in the Rotary and Chamber of Commerce. He is a member of the local running club and enjoys stand-up paddle boarding when he can find the time.

I would like to be considered for the Chamber of Commerce Board to be more involved with making a difference in the community.

OBJECTIVES... Leadership Coos is designed to develop (not train) leaders and to provide a comprehensive, objective awareness of our community in action. The program has been developed with the goal of acquainting participants with local aspects of the community—from city, state, county and federal government issues— via a series of topics, tours and speakers.

PROGRAMS... One day per month for nine months (September through May) participants attend seminars, tours and briefings which expose them to the issues and opportunities within our community and challenge them to become involved in decision making in political and community organizations that match their areas of interest. Sessions are led by selected leaders from both local and statewide fields that acquaint participants with a wide variety of subjects including (but not limited to) local transportation issues, emergency services, communications, education, business and industry, health and human services.

New Business Challenge

A program designed to encourage entrepreneurial spirit in the Bay Area
Bay Area Chamber of Commerce
2015 New Business Challenge

We would like to encourage the entrepreneurial spirit in Coos County and instill an attitude whereby residents believe this is a good place to start a business. To do this, we need to develop a community in which a child is proud to say,

“My parent owns that small manufacturing plant at the end of the road.

I want to do the same thing when I grow up - I want to own my own business.”

A positive, pro-growth attitude such as this will encourage small, growing businesses to thrive on the South Coast. And, the New Business Challenge Award will help by taking the best and making it better through the infusion of award capital. The winner of the New Business Challenge Award will receive all of the services listed in the application on the homepage of our website.

Can I give two weeks' notice if I own the business?

Some days it may feel like you want to give your two weeks' notice and quit being a business owner, but that's probably not in anyone's best interest. A business exit strategy may require two or three years to implement if your business is successful and usually more than two weeks are necessary if the business is failing.

First look at the reasons you are feeling overwhelmed and are ready to quit, is this a temporary issue or are there long term reasons to consider exiting the business? Talk with an advisor at the local Small Business Development Center about the business issues you are facing to strategize the best options. You can find additional information to help you operate a successful business or exit your business by going to www.BizCenter.org.

Burnout may be part of the problem leading to a desire to quit your business. You may need to make some adjustments to the amount of time you are putting into your business to avoid burnout. Make a list of the essential tasks needed to operate the business, then estimate the amount of time required to accomplish these duties. What resources do you have to help you accomplish all critical tasks? Do you have employees or outside business consultants? Think about areas of your business where you are spending time that are not on that essential tasks list. How much time do you spend on them? Are they important to your business success or can they be eliminated? Are there areas of your business you can streamline?

Next, think about what you would do instead of being in business. Is there a job you feel you would like better and are qualified for? Going to work for someone else will provide a regular paycheck, but you will no longer be able to control when, where, how and with whom you work. Is your business successful enough to sell? If so, you'll need a plan to get the best price for the sale of the business.

If you decide to close the business, what can you do to reduce the negative impact on your customers, your employees, your suppliers, your investors and yourself? Be sure to think about the tax consequences. How will you dispose of any inventory or business assets? How will you pay any remaining business debts? Don't give up until you've thoroughly planned what's next.
